

VMware Partner Exchange: Searching for Zimbra Clues

Contributed by LXer Linux News
Tuesday, 09 February 2010

More than 2,600 partners will converge at this week's VMware Partner Exchange conference in Las Vegas. Lots of news will surface at the conference. But I'm looking behind the curtains for new clues involving VMware's strategy for Zimbra, the recently acquired open source email provider. Here's an update.

More than 2,600 partners will converge at this week's VMware Partner Exchange conference in Las Vegas. Lots of news will surface at the conference. But I'm looking behind the curtains for new clues involving VMware's strategy for Zimbra, the recently acquired open source email provider. Here's an update.

Read more at: <http://www.thevarguy.com/2010/02/08/vmware-partner-exchange-searching-for-zimbra-clues/>.